Historical Note

The Office of Schools, Child and Youth Ministry received a grant from the Lilly Foundation to fund a three year research project (1999-2001) which involved more than two hundred teenagers from the Catholic schools and parishes of the Archdiocese of Milwaukee. This project was titled, ‘Tomorrow’s Present’ and had three phases. The first phase involved training adolescents to administer one of three workshops; during the three year project these young people presented 45 workshops throughout the archdiocese. The second phase was strategy building, which involved inviting youths to a Youth Forum which were held once a month from September-December, 2000. The final phase was implementation where the youths would implement the ideas born at the Youth Forum. A final Celebration of Learning gathered all youth participants from the first two phases.
